HELP THE CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY

So great is the problem of the homeless child in Kentucky; so intertwined with church, school and society that the only institution in the State, the Kentucky Children's Home Society, is taxed to capacity and must construct another building if hundreds are to be given shelter and a home.

More than $100,000 is needed and to raise this sum the Society will start immediately a campaign throughout the various counties and in the schools that the donations by the children may build the third unit of the cottage village at Lyndon, as a memorial dedicated to the homeless little ones.

For a quarter of a century the Society was housed in Louisville in an old row of residences. George L. Sehon, Superintendent, struggled for a decade to raise money to buy the 87 acre tract at Lyndon and last spring his dreams were realized when the first two units of the village were completed and ready for occupancy. To the new home were moved 160 little children. Despite the lateness of the year, each boy began planting a garden, with the result that enough food was raised to supply the table and to can and preserve more than 1,000 gallons of food for winter use.

At this time, to withhold help from the Kentucky Children's Home Society means the counties must take up the work of caring for the homeless hundreds in the State, with the attendant increase in county taxes and the increase in delinquency through the evil surroundings of the poorhouses in which they must find shelter.

For this humanitarian cause, the people of the State are asked for $100,000 by Christmas in order that work may be started by early spring.

CHICKENS DRINK ILLICIT BEER; WHIP BULLDOG

Inebriate chickens on his farm have so incensed George W. Perry, on the Dayton pike, near Dayton, Ky., that he has asked James M. Wood, prohibition agent, to apprehend the person or persons who furnish the fowls with moonshine whiskey.

It has been an all too common sight on his farm for several days, Perry said, for the chickens to be trying stunts that mother nature never intended they should attempt. A heretofore meek old hen was observed to be trying to fight a bulldog, finally putting the dog to flight. The reason, Perry told Wood, is that moonshiners operating somewhere in the neighborhood had poured their mash on his farm and the chickens partook liberally of it.

The spree was fatal to some of the chickens.

QUEER LEGAL QUESTION OVER $400 OVERDRAFT

A knotty legal tangle that may go to the State Supreme Court before final determination is disclosed in the trial of E. H. Cunningham, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, on a charge of grand larceny.

The facts, according to the indictment upon which he will be tried are that Cunningham carried an account with the Ohio State Bank and Trust Company, and that, upon inquiring his balance, was told that it was $414. He wrote a check and drew this amount. It is declared, however, that his actual balance was $14.

The defense asserts that Cunningham made no false statements and that the money was paid him voluntarily.

BINGHAM LAW COPIED BY OTHER INTERESTS

Passage of the Bingham Co-operative Marketing Act and the practical demonstration of its benefits in the disposal of the 1921 burley tobacco crop, has furnished the stimulus and resulted in the organization of a number of associations of growers devoted to the production of other specialized agricultural crops in Kentucky.

Strawberry and grass seed growers were quick to take advantage of the law affording a systematic and feasible marketing plan that gives the producer some say in the disposition of his crop. The indications are that in time the Bingham law will be adopted by the growers of other commodities in organizing associations for their mutual benefit and better returns for what they raise.

The Bingham law has been on the statute books only a few months but already it has demonstrated that it is a boon to the agricultural interests of the State.

Probably.

When a girl admits she didn't mean what she said about refusing to take back her promise to change her mind, she was probably mistaken in the first place, and doesn't really mean it.

In all motion picture theaters in Japan there is always a speaker who dramatically explains each picture, because the English words shown on the screen are unintelligible to the audience.

EX-KAISER LIKELY TO MARRY IN NOVEMBER

The marriage of former Emperor William to the widowed Princess Serphine Von Schoenaich-Carolath probably will take place in November, it was announced after a family council of the house of Hohenzollern held at Potsdam.

The council was attended by all the ex-Kaiser's sons with the exception of ex-Crown Prince Frederick William, who is with his father at Doorn. All the sons and the ex-Crown Princess have consented to the marriage, it is stated.

The announcement was made by Frederick Von Berg, chief of the civil cabinet of the House of Hohenzollern.

Princess Von Schoenaich-Carolath was born Princess Ruess of the elder line.

BARN PAINT

Right now there is a thief prowling 'round your barn

WHEREVER there is a patch of bare or poorly painted surface, there he destroys the fibre and steals the value.

His name is Rot, and he'll rob you every day until he is driven off and kept off by the constant application of Paint.

Devole Barn Paint defeats Rot for years. It coats the wood with a tough long lasting film that resists the action of the air, sun and rain. It makes farm buildings last longer; look better; and worth more.

Devole Products are time-tested and proven, backed by 168 years' experience of the oldest paint manufacturing concern in the U. S. Founded 1754.

LIQUID FUEL

(Washington Star)

For a long time liquid fuel was employed only for steam production, but an indication of the wide application that it may have in many forms of industry is afforded by the experience of the owners of a large glass manufactory at South Hackney, in England. The experiments there were begun more than ten years ago and after overcoming many difficulties, a special form of burner was evolved which appears to be entirely satisfactory. Four to five thousand gallons of oil are burned every week with perfect combustion and a total absence of smoke, and the temperature obtained ranges from that of a baker's oven to that required for melting crucible steel. Elsewhere in England liquid fuel has been applied to such industries as the distillation of petroleum, steel smelting, heating the kilns for the production of art tile glazing, carbonizing electric light filaments and heating furnaces of various kinds.

JAZZ IS WATCHWORD

"Jazz" is the watchword in the publicity branch of the postoffice Department. Postmaster General Work believes that it is a mistake to have the doings of the postal service told in solemn, stilted language of the ordinary government reports, hence the following sprightly gems from a batch of postoffice "hand-outs":

"You can go to Europe for twelve cents—on three conditions. First, you must die; second, you must be cremated; third, your ashes must not weigh more than a pound."

"According to figures compiled by the Postoffice Department every man in the United States sent one special delivery letter and every other man received a reply, or, in the event it is the women who are the biggest users of the delivery stamp. Every woman sent one and every other woman received one in reply. The general belief that these rush letters are assorted with summer time, or love time, was given a rude shock when the figures disclosed that more specials are sent in the last quarter of the year. The negro is the most extensive user of the oblong stamp, some of them putting one on each letter they send, whether to carry the suggestion of importance or really with an idea to obtain speed, of course cannot be determined without the aid of a psychologist."

"The new special delivery stamp and the proposal to change other stamps designs has opened a fertile field of imagination and the Postoffice Department daily is receiving suggestions for modernizing its postage."

"The suggestions cover a wide range and are not confined to stamps alone but indicate a desire on the posters to bring up to date everything under the sun. One goes so far as to suggest bobbed hair and higher heeled shoes for the Statue of Liberty."

"Another patriotic citizen wants a picture of Charles Chaplin on the cent stamp and a cut of Babe Ruth swinging his bat on the two's. Out in Kansas they want the man plowing with oxen on State seal given a city haircut and a seat on modern tractor, while on the reverse side, if there is a reverse side to a seal, they suggest an action scene showing 'Billy White and Henry Allen pulling each others ears.'"

Dudes are those who have been ruined by substituting cologne water for axle-grease.

The man of one idea always has to be tending it; the man of many ideas can let the children entertain one another.
